

END STRIKE; PUBLIC WILL BE WITH YOU

Labor Chiefs Promise to Urge Men to Return to Work For Good of County; Leaders Of Civic Clubs Offer Aid

Mass Meeting of Workers to Be Held This Afternoon to Decide On Action; Business Men Will Also Foregather

The building trades strike, which has tied up construction activities in Alameda county and elsewhere for several months, is believed to be nearer a settlement today than at any other time during the controversy as the result of a meeting at the city hall last night, at which union men agreed to recommend the various crafts to go back to work under any conditions "for the good of the county."

This step was taken after assurance was given by representatives of several organizations that after the strike has been called off and building activities are resumed organizations and clubs of the city will work to secure "a square deal" for the men. Plans being made today for the appointment of a general committee of businessmen to investigate conditions.

Working members of the striking union will be informed of the agreement today at a meeting in Macchioni's hall, and it will be placed formally before the "Committee of Ten" of the Trades Labor Council at a meeting Tuesday night at the Labor Temple. It was predicted that the men would probably accept the agreement, and it was said during last night's meeting that whatever decision was reached, the matter was expressed at the meeting late today would be echoed by the leaders of the Building Trades Council at the meeting night session.

Last night's meeting was called by H. R. Wright, secretary of Carpenters Local No. 63, and a member of the "Committee of Ten," in an effort to bring to a close the controversy. The following organizations were represented: L. C. Fraser and J. H. MacLafferty, Lions Club; R. Horst, Oakland Advertiser; J. H. MacLafferty, Building Trades Council; J. H. MacLafferty, Business Development League; A. R. Dorge, Downtown Property Owners' Association; J. H. MacLafferty, Association of Public Welfare League; J. H. MacLafferty, Association of Owners' Association of Alameda county, and Sam Donohue, business agent of the Building Trades Council.

A motion picture was shown, provided for the union men to return to work and end the building tieup in Alameda county and invite organizations to form a committee to aid in a permanent settlement agreeable to both sides.

After the session had been called to order, the commendation of the chairman, E. B. Brown, was read. After reading the proposition, he recommended that a copy be sent to all of the civic organizations in the city. At this point Fraser introduced the original proposition, but before it was passed it was decided to have open discussion.

DIGGS OPENS DEBATE ON PAY SCALE. Maury Diggs, an architect, representing the Uptown association, was one of the first to take the floor. "I came here," said Diggs, "because I represent $5,000,000 projected for this city and have plans partially finished and buildings partially finished. I am here to get ahead and get on. At the present time we are paying good, poor, ordinary and excellent men alike, and you are trying to make them equal. I say set a minimum wage scale and let the individual workers what they are worth."

Donohue, business agent for the Building Trades Council, explained the controversy of the strike, and declared that the Builders' Exchange and the supply dealers have material tied up so that it cannot be bought without a permit from the former organization. "These people," he declared, "are being asked to do the work of the contractors and are not allowed to employ the men they want. We want the privilege of American citizens to go and purchase material, and we see fit. When there has been no building going on for several months is because the contractors can't get the men who can do the work right, that will comply with these unfair conditions."

MEN ARE URGED TO RETURN TO WORK. Diggs again took the floor after Donohue and said he believed the men should go back to work. "I think the men ought to go back to work," he declared, "and I think they should fight this out afterward. Then after you have gone back to work let the organizations appoint a committee to aid you in the settlement of the trouble."

Turkey Seeks to Renew Diplomacy With America

(By Associated Press) CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 27.—Resumption of diplomatic relations with the United States is being considered by the Turkish government here. It is necessary for it to make a formal demand to this effect, as it severed diplomatic relations with America in 1917. It is probable that if the demand is successful change of affairs will be sent to Washington immediately.

Wait Until All Excitement Cools, Hightower Asks

Man Held For Priest's Murder Told Prosecution Will Not Be Rushed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—William Hightower, accused of the murder of Rev. Father Heslin, Colma priest, today pleaded that his trial be delayed until "the excitement of this thing has died down."

"I don't want to go to trial yet," he said. "I want to wait until the excitement of this thing has died down. Wait a while."

District Attorney Swart of San Mateo county said he had no desire to rush the prosecution unnecessarily.

PRISONER ARRAIGNED IN COURT AT NIGHT. REDWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Legal matters, designed to show the accused, Hightower, that he was not being treated as a prisoner, were argued today at a night session of the court.

Without any warning as to his intentions District Attorney Franklin Swart had Hightower taken before Judge Buck last night, and there argued the case of the accused in the murder of Father Heslin. He will be taken back to court at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to make a plea.

The reason behind the act was that Hightower had been supplied with temporary counsel, that he might have public opportunity to express his desires regarding an attorney, and that the writ asked by Attorney William H. Brown of San Francisco could be shown to be unnecessary.

Haynes was a native of Scotland.

ONE SUSPECT HELD FOR SAN JOSE MURDER

"Monk" Barnett and "Peg" McBurney Arrested Here While Working On Auto in Which Slayers Made Escape

One Man Proves Alibi and Is Released After Questioning; Third Man Detained in Connection With Crime

One man was held here today for investigation while another suspected of having been an accomplice in the murder on August 15 of C. J. Hinds, wealthy candy manufacturer of San Jose, is the object of a police search which extends over four counties.

The man held is Hubert ("Monk") Barnett, who, in company with A. ("Peg") McBurney, was taken into custody last night at 18 Eleventh street, where the two men were released after being questioned by Oakland and San Jose detectives.

The two men were working on the car in which Hinds' slayers fled, according to the police. The automobile, believed to have been used by the slayers, was traced from San Jose to Oakland by Detectives William J. Dreischmeier and Ray Starbird of San Jose, and was found at the Eleventh street address last night.

TRIED TO SELL HIS CHILD FOR ADOPTION. Barnett was identified by the San Jose officers as the man who, in January, 1920, advertised his unborn child for adoption. In his pocket was found a letter from a San Jose woman which begged him for having proposed to marry her.

A third suspect in the murder of Hinds, who was shot down before the eyes of his wife and child as he drove an automobile into their yard, is the first important clue that may lead to the identity of the slayer.

WAS IN OAKLAND ON NIGHT OF MURDER. McBurney, who was working on the machine which carried the slayers away from San Jose, was released after he had established that he was in Oakland on the night Hinds was shot.

According to the police, Barnett could not establish an alibi. He refused to tell the police where he was on August 15. Although the police grilled him from 10 o'clock last night until 3.30 this morning, he refused to say where he was.

OLDEST BROTHER SERVED SAN QUENTIN TERM. According to the police records, "Monk" Barnett is a shoemaker, and lives with his wife and children at the Eleventh street address where the car was found. They formerly lived in San Francisco, this morning he could not tell them anything because he was afflicted with mind lapses and could never remember dates or places he had visited, the police say.

Suspects in L. A. Robbery Unidentified

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—There are not the men. This assertion by Alfred Adams, manager of the Huntington Park branch of the L. A. Trust & Savings Bank, today put to rest the belief of Sheriff Traeger that he had captured four of the five bandits who perpetrated the $32,000 robbery yesterday when he failed to identify them.

At least two of the four men will not be released, however, as they were armed and are said to have criminal records.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN INDIA SLAIN

British Government Declares Martial Law Over Area in Which Mohammedans Are Murdering and Pillaging

(By Associated Press) MADRAS, India, Aug. 27.—The Malabar district of British India has been proclaimed a military area.

Horde of Rioters in Malabar District Battle With Troops Against Machine Guns; Action Against Leaders. LONDON, Aug. 27.—Thirteen women and children were slaughtered in a massacre by Mohlah natives near Tirur in the southern part of the Malabar district of India said a Central News despatch from Calcutta today. The Indian riots are spreading despite the efforts of British troops.

Two British planters were reported passing in the Tirur region. The Mohlahs' palace was plundered and then set afire. Priceless jewels and relics and records were destroyed.

By Associated Press. LONDON, Aug. 27.—Conditions in the disturbed district south of Calcutta, British India, are shown to be of considerable gravity. In an official statement issued at the India office here. This statement, based on reports from Madras, the town of Tirur, states that a mob of 5000 attacked the police in the town of Tirur and later clashed with the British police, which dispersed the rioters with machine guns. Lieutenant Bowyer and his men became separated from their troops and were killed. Their bodies, terribly mutilated, were subsequently recovered.

The battalions Canopus arrived at Calcutta yesterday and the situation in that city is said to be quiet. Further south and east, however, there have been a number of serious fights. Detachment of soldiers at Malabar, thirty miles southeast of Calcutta, has been cut off from the base, but is reported to be safe. Reports from a number of towns along the Malabar coast state that looting continues and that public offices in many places have been looted by mobs.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—The riotous natives in southern India still continue, according to a message from Calcutta. A band of fanatics is reported to have entered an estate at Pullenigum, where a bungalow named Eaton was surprised in a bungalow and beheaded. The bungalow was burned. Eaton's wife had a left eye severely injured. It is also reported that an inspector of special reserve police was murdered by Mohlah rioters. His body was thrown into the river.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Owing to the serious character of the riots in the Malabar district of British India and the possibility of a general spread of the disorders, the British government today says it understands the government of India, with the concurrence of Edward Spencer Montague, secretary of state for India, has decided to take such steps as may be necessary for the greater part of the recent trouble in India.

It is understood, it adds, that the authorities are fully prepared for further efforts to quell disorders should the preventive action now being taken not meet with success.

Just who the "prominent persons" alluded to in the foregoing may be is not clear. It seems possible, however, that leaders of the nationalist movement, the prominent personalities held responsible for the greater part of the recent trouble in India.

FAR EAST PACKED BY PEOPLES WHO NEED LIVING ROOM

Former Professor in Tokyo
University Sees Race War
Unless Problem Solved.

"The problem of population is the world's greatest menace today and unless something is done to remedy existing conditions in the Far East so that things will not proceed along the same lines that they have for the past twenty-five years, we will be hurled into a tremendous race conflict with the Orient."

This was the statement and prediction of H. H. Guy, formerly a professor in the University of Tokyo and during the war a civilian adviser to the general staff of the United States army in Vladivostok, who spoke to members of the Optimists' club at their luncheon yesterday in a downtown cafe.

Guy declared that the United States as a nation had the leading opportunity for the solution of this problem. "This problem," Guy said, "is something a great deal more than a mere difference of race. It is a matter of some of the largest races in the world endeavoring to find a place in which to live. Most of the undeveloped land in the world today is placed where it is being held in the hands of the white race, and the white race seems determined that it will remain in its hands."

SIBERIA MELTING POT.

Guy's subject was "Siberia and the New Far East," and he gave his impressions of that portion of the world from the time of his arrival to his departure after the war. "One of the things that impressed him most upon his arrival at Vladivostok, he said, was the mixed races that were inhabiting the city. There were representatives of practically every race and country in the world, he said, including Russian, Japanese, Canadian and Czechoslovak soldiers."

"Of all the soldiers and races," said the speaker, "I believe I found the Czechoslovak the most interesting. They had fought their way for thousands of miles from Moscow to Vladivostok, as an example for the allies who they thought would follow them, and fight their way back. Despite their experience they were the most snappy soldiers I have ever seen and after they arrived they were saluting everybody. They later stopped these salutes, however, when they were disappointed because the allies would not follow them back."

Guy called the attention of his audience to a railroad which was built by the Russians from Moscow to Vladivostok, a distance of 5,488 miles, in seven years, and said that in building it the Russians set a world's record for efficiency and speed in railway construction. Before the war through trains plied over this road, he declared, between the two cities, but during the conflict, great portions of it were destroyed.

JAPAN CROWDED.

"The question in the Far East," continued the speaker, "is what to do with the population. Japan has approximately 1500 persons to the average square mile of tillable soil. Japan has absorbed all of the soil that she has and the end of her gold and oil and other resources is in sight. At present Japan is making an effort to find a place to live in a way that is slowly gaining her the animosity of the world, but those who know and realize the real state of affairs, cannot help but sympathize with her."

"China has a population of approximately 450,000,000 persons, and still has the more available untouched resources than any other country in the world. It is said that in one province alone she has enough coal to supply the whole world for fifty years. She also has more efficient labor than any other nation."

"So we find the problem menacing the world today is the problem of population. The most undeveloped land in the world is in the hands of the least populated races."

Guy declared that when the population problem of the Far East is finally settled in the United States, Spain and France would have something to answer for.

REV. A. H. SYKES DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLE

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says: "After seeing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. "I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

Miss McCormick has been feled continuously all season by scores of friends from both sides of the bay. Her fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark of Berkeley and a graduate of the University of California. He is a Phi Delta Phi fraternity man.

The tea given by Mrs. George Vespeur last afternoon for her sister, Miss Ada Price, was the occasion of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Price and Theodore Hyde-Smith of Stanford University. Miss Price's fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George and Jack Vespeur distributed the betrothal cards among the guests.

Miss Price is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Price of San Francisco and is a graduate of the University of California. She has been connected with college faculties in both England and Canada. Miss Price will receive her guests from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. A. C. Wall and her daughters, the Misses Ella and Ethel Wall of Berkeley, have just returned from a tour of the continent and a visit with relatives and friends in the army headquarters in the occupied territory. Their itinerary took them through England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France and Italy, and even up Mt. Vesuvius, through Switzerland and the Alps, down the Rhine and on to Cologne and Cologne to U. S. army headquarters. An airplane fight over Germany numbered among their thrilling experiences. Verdun, Soissons, Rheims and Chateau Thierry and the war zone were officially visited.

Professor and Mrs. William A. Merrill have as their house guest Miss Alice Helen Graustein of Cambridge, Massachusetts, who is to be their future daughter-in-law. Miss Graustein will wed David Robert Merrill this evening before half a hundred guests.

BEST DISTANCE RUNNERS IN THE WEST WILL COMPETE IN THE TRIBUNE MERRITT RACE

MARATHON RUNNERS URGED TO SEND IN THEIR ENTRIES EARLY

Entrants Must Have Membership Card in the Pacific Amateur Athletic Association.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Yesterday produced the record number of entries yet received on a single day since the boys began sending in their blanks for the Ninth Annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt Marathon. The big rush will be on in a few days now and those who have participated in previous Merritt Marathons realize the importance of getting their entries in ahead of the last minute rush. Not only does it insure the runner against possible loss of blank or rejection of a blank that has been sent in improperly filled out, but it also allows the committee in charge sufficient time to tabulate and check the vast number of entries. All must be checked over by the Pacific Association officials for registration numbers.

To date there have been no entries received that have been improperly filled out. Despite the fact that numerous runners are sending in entries blanks this year for the first time they are all following instructions to the letter and are filling in all particulars, which makes the matter of handling the numerous entries received daily a comparatively easy matter. In past years there were always a score who failed to send their P. A. A. registration number on their blank. This resulted in much confusion in the final listing of the runners. The ninth annual promises to be free of all such difficulties and the attention that the runners have given to all particulars is duly appreciated.

Bernal Heights Boy Sends in His Entry.

The first entry from the Bernal Heights Athletic Club of San Francisco was received yesterday. Tom McNamara is the star of the new transbay organization who was the first to get his blank in to the committee. McNamara will be wanted with great interest in the coming big Lake Merritt race, as will all others from the Bernal Heights club, for this is the first year that that organization has had a team in the big TRIBUNE race. A host of friends are strong for the new athletic organization and McNamara has many boosters who claim that he will cut a big figure in the ninth annual. Here's power to you, Tom.

Speaking of breaking the ice with the first entry from an organization, there came yesterday the entry of Wallace Spaulding of Oakland Technical High School. Spaulding is the first Alameda county high school runner to send in his entry blank for the ninth annual. The main division of the high school entrants will come in a bunch about the middle of next week. Fremont, Oakland, Technical and Vocational high schools are all expected to enter strong teams, and the advance entry of Spaulding from Tech is only another indication of the vast amount of interest taken by the high school athletes in the big TRIBUNE race. We don't blame Spaulding for wanting to get in ahead of the main body of his teammates. One is always much safer when his entry blank has been duly received.

Frank Foster Will Enter Strong Team.

Coach Frank Foster of the Olympic club is a mighty busy individual these days, preparing his runners and associated athletes for the two big events on Admission Day. Foster will have a team of at least ten classy dis-

Walter Hagan Wins Western Golfing Title

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 27.—After five years, Walter Hagan of Detroit is again the Western open golf champion today. The man, who has twice been national title holder, won the honor at Oakwood Club yesterday when he completed the 72 holes with a score of 287, five strokes better than Jack Hutchinson, the British open champion, and last year's Western open champion.

Only three other players finished under 300 in the event, which is open to the world and was contested by the national open, grown, bearer, James Barnes of New York; the British open champion, Hutchinson; the Canadian open champion, W. H. Trovinger of Detroit; the Metropolitan open champion, Bob McDonald of New York; and the Australian open title holder, Joe Kirkwood.

The winning score was four above the record for the event set at 293 by Jim Barnes at Westmoreland in 1917 and repeated two years ago at Mayfield Club and one stroke higher than the record for the national open event made by Chick Evans at Winnebago in 1917, when Hutchinson was runner-up with 287.

Barnes was in the rear from the start, not displaying the golf he used in winning the national open title recently from the same field he contended with today. He was tied with 75-74-60-55-204 with Otto Hackberth of Cincinnati and William Mehlhorn of Shreveport, for twelfth place with 17 strokes behind the victor.

Mike Brady's poor scores today were due to the fact that he had no sleep last night, his wife having been taken to a hospital after a night's suffering with appendicitis.

The card of the winner for the 72 holes with par for the course follows:

Par out ..... 4 4 4 4 4 5 3-36

Japan Tennisers To Meet Yankee Davis Cup Team

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—Japan put the finishing touches on its upward victorious march over the hard-fighting Australian Davis Cup contenders today. The winners played America for the cup. The brilliant victory of the Australian doubles team, which came from behind to win over Kurganov and Shimidzu yesterday, three sets to one, was not expected to avail the Antipodean athletes much, for they suffered the loss of J. B. Hawkes, who was out of the matches owing to a severe burn on the arm.

Anderson won the first set today, 6-2. The Australian changed tactics from his preceding game and went at Kumagae very carefully. He played the ball to the Japanese, inviting errors, which Kumagae seldom failed to deliver.

Kumagae won the second set, 7-5. Anderson won the third set, 6-2, and the fifth, 6 games to 1, winning the right for the Japanese team to play the United States Davis cup holders next week at Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y.

CLAREMONT CHAMPION

MRS. H. A. PROLE of the Claremont Club could not win the San Francisco golf championship because her friend, Mrs. Milton Bernard, of the other local club, Sequoyah, gathered in the honors, but Mrs. Prole yesterday won the defeated eights flight and brought over a beautiful trophy.

GAME ENDS IN ROW.

Many arguments and decisions by the umpire marred the game between the Maxwell Hardware and Seven club teams. It ended in a row with the Maxwells quitting the field in the eighth inning with the score 2 to 1 against them.

Last Night's Fights

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 27.—Joe Coffey of San Francisco and Harry Gastine of Los Angeles fought a hard four-round draw at the American Legion Hollywood boxing arena. The decision on points in the semi-windup between Ad Rubidoux of Riverside and Kid Henne of Los Angeles went to Rubidoux.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—Happy Lelston of New Orleans won the referee's decision over Chuck Wiggin of Indianapolis in fifteen rounds.

Kinsey, Boys Are Defeated in the Net Semi-Finals

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Arnold W. Jones and W. W. Ingraham of Providence won the national junior doubles tennis championship today. They defeated F. T. Osgood and L. B. Bailey Jr. of New York in straight sets in the final round of the championship, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 27.—The East today regaled national doubles tennis honors. William Tilden and Vincent Richards are to meet J. Donnell and Watson M. Washburn in the finals of the national annual championships at Longwood this afternoon.

Little Julius Soglosky, a lad of less than 15, who learned his tennis on the Indianapolis sand lots, became the boy titlist.

It was a day of successes for "Big Bill" Tilden, Kinsey of the world's tennis start. With young Vincent Richards as partner, the advanced play of the final of the national doubles by defeating the Kinsey brothers of California in straight sets. The scores were 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. Tilden and Richards, national champions of 1918, will meet Williams and Washburn, eastern doubles titlists of this year, in the final round tomorrow.

After a brief rest Tilden paired with Mrs. Molla Bollerud Malloy to contest in the national mixed doubles final. They turned back Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Robert Kinsey, 6-3, 8-6. In the other mixed doubles semi-final Miss Mary K. Brown and W. M. Johnston, each a former national champion, won over Mrs. Frank Godfrey and Max Woodman, although the British Davis cup captain and his partner won the first set.

The Tilden-Kinsey vs. Kinsey brothers match was the most interesting of any in the several tournaments being held on the courts of the Longwood Cricket club this week. It was a test of hard hitting, as exemplified by the world champion and his partner, interspersed with soft strokes and lobs, as against the Kinsey brothers' game of side spin strokes and sure returns.

About 400 racing pigeons will be released at Marysville tomorrow morning for a flight to this city. This will be an added event to the regular schedule as the race from Davis last Sunday was cancelled on account of a shipment going wrong.

This race will give the local fliers an idea who's who in the Young Bird Series, and will be a good workout for the longer distances. The distance from Marysville to this city is approximately 100 miles air-line, and as the youngsters are usually the speed burners at the shorter distances, some of the old bird records will probably be broken.

On Saturday, September 3, a double shipment of birds will be sent out. One lot will compete in the Edison and Parker Handicap on September 3 and the other from the California State Fair at Sacramento on September 5.

A wire was received today stating that the Sperry Flour Company message carriers who have been guests of the Patterson State Fair, were released today at 12 o'clock for a flight to this city. The birds will carry messages to Mayor Lucie and the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

MRS. BERNARD WINS FROM MRS. LAW IN TRANS-BAY FINALS

Mrs. H. A. Prole of Claremont Wins First Place in the Defeated Eights Flight.

By W. D. McNICOLL

Mrs. Milton Bernard of the Sequoyah Club won the San Francisco championship yesterday, defeating Mrs. Hubert E. Law, 4 up and 3 to play. Mrs. Law was last year's champion. The first three holes were halved in 3-4-5, three over men's par but still excellent golf. At the short fourth Mrs. Bernard, after playing a nice iron shot to the green, holed her putt for a birdie 2. The fifth, the hardest par on the course, was reached by both players in 3, but here once more the Sequoyah player holed a difficult putt for a win in 3, but immediately lost the advantage at the sixth, where Mrs. Law holed out in par 4. The seventh hole was another win for Mrs. Bernard, who was on in 2, while Mrs. Law slicing her second, failed to reach the green. This green is hard to judge and both players spoiled their medal scores with missed putts. The 105 yards eighth hole was halved in three. Both pitched to the green and took two putts. The tricky uphill ninth saw Mrs. Bernard dub her second and Mrs. Law promptly took advantage and won back a hole in 4 to 5.

Mrs. Bernard was now one up and was out in an approximate 39 to 40 when Mrs. Law was in 5 but the Sequoyah champion won the next two in par golf 3 and 4 and was now 3 up and 6 to play. The long 12th found Mrs. Bernard in all kinds of trouble. She finally picked up conceding the hole to Mrs. Law.

The 14th, another hard par, Mrs. Bernard won with a 6, making her 3 up and 4 to play. Both players were on the short 15th from the tee when Mrs. Law, trying for a win in 2, over-ran the hole and failed to sink her return putt for a bird in 2, sinking Mrs. Bernard a well earned victory and the championship of San Francisco.

Mrs. H. A. Prole of Claremont added another trophy to her long list of prizes when she won first place in the defeated eight flight, defeating Mrs. Ezra Stimson (4), 4 and 2. Mrs. Harry J. Cunningham (3) defeated Mrs. Phil Wand (1), 3 up. Mrs. George H. Mullin (3) defeated Mrs. W. H. Garlick (4), 2 up.

THIRD FLIGHT
Mrs. W. B. Wentz (3) defeated Mrs. Clyde Waterman (2), 3 and 2.

CONSOLATION HANDICAP
Won by Mrs. Peter Turner with 165, 24, 80.

Runner-up Mrs. A. Lesell with 81 net.

NOVICE DRIVING COMPETITION

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27.

Hannibal Hamlin, vice-president under Lincoln, was born in 1809. In 1796 another alliterate, Sophia Smith, founder of Smith College, was born. The steamer Missouri burned at Gibraltar in 1845 and the anti-riot insurrection scared the landlords in Delaware in 1845. Fitch's steamboat was tried out in 1787, which reminds us that the battle of Kettle Run was fought in 1862.

ON CANCELLING DEBTS.
Mr. Arthur W. Kiddy, editor of the Bankers' Magazine of London and financial editor of the London Morning Post, has a sound idea about the cancellation of national debts. It is gratifying to observe also that he seems to reflect the judgment of the business and financial leaders, as well as the more sober statesmen, of Great Britain. Writes Mr. Kiddy:

"Forgiving debt, except in exceptional circumstances, is childish, harmful and pauperizing, and the sooner Great Britain and America can arrange their own indebtedness, the better the way will be paved for mutual understanding. No better tonic to debtor nations exists than a reminder of their indebtedness, provided it is combined with a reasonable recognition, in the case of the devastated countries, that bricks cannot be made without straw."

Here is a wholesome principle enunciated which, when applied to transactions between nations, means that debts should never be forgiven. Nations act in the name and for the interest of their citizens, and they should fulfill, and insist upon the fulfillment, of their obligations as they stand.

What Mr. Kiddy says regarding Great Britain and the United States applies with equal force to the financial relations between the other debtor nations of Europe and this government. No responsible statesman in any debtor country can seriously advance the suggestion for the cancellation of the governmental debts to the United States, if he places any value on his reputation. All that can reasonably be asked is that due consideration be given by the creditor to the economic conditions in the debtor countries and the available means of payment of obligations.

This consideration the United States is willing to give. The Treasury Department has asked of Congress the requisite legal authority to refund the foreign debts and thus put them upon a basis where definitive agreements to pay in regular instalments are possible. Congress has not yet acted on the government's recommendation. It has instead taken a recess. But when it reassembles no doubt all the pressure of which the administration is capable will be exerted to have it grant the power necessary to the negotiation of a settlement.

ANOTHER AIRCRAFT TRAGEDY.

So far as present information can be relied upon, structural weakness was the cause of the disaster of the dirigible ZR-2, which fell in the river Humber, England, Tuesday evening, causing the death of forty-three persons, seventeen of whom were officers and enlisted men of the American navy. A supporting girder amidship apparently broke while the controls were being tested, and this was followed by an explosion in a fuel tank, which rendered the escape of even six members of the crew almost miraculous.

Dirigible balloons have not been an unqualified success in war or peace operations. They have proved too vulnerable to damage from comparatively small causes. Counting the loss and the gain, it is to be doubted that the dirigible can justify itself on its record as a war utility. So far, no more can be said for it as an accommodation of peace.

But the prospect of an airship, capable of carrying seventy-five or a hundred tons, with a fuel capacity for a 6000-mile non-stop trip, and with a speed of sixty or seventy miles an hour, has proved fascinating to the nations of Europe and the United States. It would mean the crossing of the Atlantic in from twenty to thirty hours, a most valuable accomplishment for important travel. This appeals to business as well as army and navy administrators.

Questions are certain to be asked as to whether the wreck of the ZR-2 will have any important effect upon the opinions regarding dirigibles. This giant airship was constructed by the British government for the United States, for which we were to pay $2,000,000. It was on its final trial flight before being turned over to the American crew which had been sent to London to bring it home. Its loss is regrettable, but a lesson may be gained therefrom which will make future craft more safe—if any more of this type are constructed.

But most tragic of all, of course, is the heavy loss of life in this accident. The officers and men of the American navy who were killed were the most proficient in aeronautics. They will be difficult to replace. England has lost in the same way. Unless dirigibles can be made a more reliable means of travel governments cannot afford to experiment with them.

JAPAN WILL SEND HER BEST.

One of the Japanese news bureaus sustained in this country indulges some interesting comment on the personnel of the delegation which Japan will send to the Harding conference on limitation of armaments and Pacific questions. The experience of Versailles, it says, has taught Japan that success or failure in an international conference depends much on the selection of the representatives. This must be intended as a compliment for the Japanese delegation at the peace conference, for if one country was pre-eminently successful it was Japan.

Almost a dozen of Japan's foremost statesmen have been named and the factions supporting them have been holding rallies. At first the Seiyukai, the party in power, seemed it desirable, in view of the magnitude of Japan's interests involved in the conference, to send their chief, Mr. Hara, the Prime Minister, who is claimed to be the most experienced and ablest of statesmen in Japan. Mr. Hara, however, seems to be unwilling to come, on the ground that domestic politics require his constant attention. There is a cry among the Liberals to send Mr. Ozaki, the former Minister of Justice and a most earnest champion of disarmament, but the proposal is considered out of the question because of the limited political influence which he now commands.

The Military group has come out for Count Gombei Yamamoto, Admiral and at one time Prime Minister. They argue that the coming conference will be occupied not with nice diplomatic etiquette but with practical world problems in which Japan's interests are at stake. No one who falls short of being a far-sighted, dauntless, earnest statesman ought to represent Japan. They insist that Admiral Yamamoto alone can uphold Japan's honor and dignity and defend her interest in the coming conference. The navy has also its own idol. Admiral Saito, now Governor-General of Chosen, an able, liberal, experienced statesman, is the chosen candidate of the naval faction.

It is believed that in all probability the final decision will fall either on Count Uchida, the present Minister of Foreign Affairs, or Viscount Chinda, now on his way home with the Crown Prince. Viscount Chinda represented Japan, with Prince Saionji and Baron Makino, at Versailles. This, together with his long experience in international affairs as Ambassador to Great Britain and America, undoubtedly entitles him to a claim to the office.

Whatever may be the decision of the Tokyo government as to the personnel of its delegation to the disarmament conference, the other nations to be represented may rest assured that the most fit and able men will be assigned to the role of preserving and advancing Japan's interests. It would be well for all the other governments, including the United States, to take a lesson from the Japanese book.

Lenine says the surrender of sovietism to capital is brief. Where is the capital it has surrendered to? Latest reports say that Russia is without capital.

The former German kaiser repeats that the German army was never defeated. There is need of a psychiatrist at Doorn.

THE BERGDOLL REPORT.

Whether or not the majority report of the Congressional committee upon the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll has any effect upon the fortunes of the fugitive, it should have a tonic and wholesome effect upon Army administration. Bergdoll is merely a blatant slacker, who has defied the power of the United States. Personally he is of no account, and the United States will be none the worse for his sneers. But the Army is a vital part of our government and it should never be smirched again as it has been smirched by Bergdoll's preposterous escape. If this report carries that conviction into Army administration it will be helpful.

Bergdoll was not only blatant, he was rich and was willing to spend his money freely to escape war service. He had full faith that money would enable him to avoid that service, and the obvious conclusion is that it has done so and that his boasts in Germany were justified. The escape was made under conditions which would have been impossible save for connivance on the part of officials whose duty it was to guard the prisoner. Sending such a man off to hunt "buried gold" in the Maryland mountains was a comic opera proceeding, and sending him without handcuffs or restrictions on his freedom of movement was as good as a hint to the guards who accompanied him that his escape would not be unwelcome to their superiors. The result "happened as a matter of course."

That was a proper subject for Congressional investigation. The report finds that it was the result of a conspiracy devised by former Brigadier General Ansell, who had retired from the Army and become Bergdoll's counsel, and whose long association with Army officers gave him an influence with them which no civilian attorney would have had. Ansell is beyond the reach of Army discipline and for that reason the report recommends that "provision should be made against his future practice before any of the departments, before any court-martial or in the courts of the District of Columbia, or of the Nation above whose integrity he has placed gold."

Surely that is not too heavy a punishment for a man who used his influence with an arm of the service in which he had once been highly honored to pave the way for the escape of a prisoner whose chances of escape without the favors induced by such influence would have been of the slightest. The country might be glad to forget the insolent Bergdoll, but it cannot afford to forget Ansell, or to ignore the conduct attributed to him in this report, which seems to be a fair deduction from the facts known.—Brooklyn Eagle.

NOTES and COMMENT

The House of Representatives is off to take a thirty-day rest. It is entitled to it, not necessarily because of the prompt enactment of measures that the country needs and has been looking for, but because of the enervating climate in which it is compelled to operate. It is wondered how even Senator Reed stands it.

Several quips have been turned on the capture of a highwayman the same way a horse sometimes wins a race—by the nose. The victim caught the robber by the nasal organ with his teeth and held on. It certainly is a new way, more effective than pleasant to either party concerned, one would say.

The hazing season is over, and those who would reform colleges so that there would be no more hazing can have a year's rest, except when they hear of off-season instances. It has been found difficult to eradicate an "abuse" which both the aggressor and the victim are in favor of.

"Germany ready to pay war debts." While countries which won the war are wrangling among themselves, the country which lost it and is carrying the consequences in an enormous debt is making headway. The war, which seemed to democratize and unsettle so many countries, appears to have galvanized Germany into united and effective industrial effort.

A big simplification of the wheeze, "Hoist by his own petard," is afforded, if the story is true that the Villa colony, on the Pacific brisand's 500,000-acre ranch, has become unruly, so that he has sent for regular soldiers to put it down. The story is denied, however, and considering Villa's record in dealing with extraordinary emergencies of this character, it is not regarded as probable.

Lovers of the national sport, generally referred to as "fams," will take satisfaction in the announcement that William Wrigley has become a factor in the game as it is organized in California. Having bought the Los Angeles team he is looked to to inject that quality of pep that characterizes other enterprises with which he has allied himself.

What happens to barrels of booze which are started on their cheerful way and arrive full of bricks or mere water is chronously termed leakage. It is the new science of transmutation, perhaps an achievement as to liquids that the chemists of old did not and vainly endeavored to encompass as to metals.

The generals who have been discovered in a plot to murder President Obregon are not likely to have an elaborate and highly technical trial. There is not that hysterical concern in the neighboring country for criminals caught red-handed in murder plots, that there seems to be in some other countries.

It will be interesting to note the comments on the dirigible disaster. If the tendency in such discussions holds good, the most positive will be those whose knowledge of airships has been gained from the pictures they have seen in current prints.

A lady is still a lady though she plays tennis. Consequently such captions as, "Mlle. Lenglen, emotional child, and Molly Mallory simply gathered her goat," do not evince that care for the more polite amenities that is generally characteristic of the discriminating American press.

Sedalia has organized a McAdoo club. Sedalia is in Missouri, where it has been understood people have to be shown. But it would seem that some of them do not understand after they are shown. McAdoo did not get the nomination, even, and besides, the election is all over.

Considering the unimpressiveness of the Portland baseball aggregation this season it is a good deal of a surprise that an Omaha man has offered $50,000 for the outfit. While that is a surprise, that the offer has been refused amounts to positive astonishment.

Of course it is going a good way to say that pugilistic scrimmages in the House of Representatives will tide over the hiatus between major events such as the recent one between Campsey and Carpenter, but the idea has occurred in circles that feel the need of this sort of diversion.

The Kansas City Star explains it. That paper says the probable secret of Mrs. Obenchain's power over her men friends is that she tells them they look just like the young man in the collar advertisement.

ARIZONA POCKET RATS

W. E. ALLEN.
California Biological Feature Service.

In recent years some of the most conspicuous and important advances in biological science have been made in the line of investigation of life histories of animals. However, uninteresting and unimportant the animal may seem to be, it is almost invariably true that intimate acquaintance reveals phases of his daily life and fight for existence which are most fascinating. An excellent illustration of this fact is afforded by the Arizona Pocket Rat, which is known locally by the name of Banner Tail Kangaroo Rat, which has been studied a good deal in connection with problems of pasture on the cattle ranges.

Dr. Vorhies of the University of Arizona has given a great deal of attention to this animal and on a recent visit to the Laramie National Monument he gave a lecture explaining some of the principal discoveries. Any one crossing the semi-arid cattle ranges of Arizona in the dry season is sure to notice numerous mounds which are six inches to two feet in height and a few feet in width, but he does not notice anything alive about them in most cases. The mounds are usually near small shrubs, which help to hide the burrows from which the dirt of the mounds has been excavated. The makers of these burrows and mounds are the pocket rats which come out only at night. Hard labor with pick and shovel is necessary to bring them into view in the day time.

The burrows are somewhat scattering and only one pocket rat is to be found in each burrow. It is a beautiful little creature, quite different in that respect from the rat to which it is only remotely akin. It has large, expressive eyes and smooth, glossy fur. Its dainty little hands, long tail and large hind legs make it look like a miniature kangaroo. It has hair-lined cheek pouches for carrying food, which are like those of the pocket gopher to which it is near kin.

Fortunately for grazers these animals have small families of from one to three young at rather long intervals. They are furious fighters in captivity, jumping and striking like roosters until one is killed. Nests are made under the mounds, being from one to three stories in depth, according to size of the mound. A few burrows lead off to secondary mounds from the main one. Grain and forage is stored in various tunnels, the quantity sometimes being as much as a bushel. In twenty-two nests excavated by Dr. Vorhies the largest quantity of food was found in February and the smallest (about a

about YOUR HEALTH
What You Can Do To Aid In Case of a Fit or Stroke
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.
There are all kinds of "fits."
There are the apoplectic fit, the epileptic fit, the fainting fit.
There are the heat-stroke and the sunstroke.
Besides these there is unconsciousness from intoxication and from the absorption of bodily poisons.
Doctors are not always within reach. Everyone ought to know what to do for fits, strokes and loss of consciousness.
Let us consider these abnormal conditions in the order I have mentioned them.
Apoplexy is due generally to bleeding into the substance of the brain. Unless it comes from a blow, a break in one of the little vessels of the brain is not to be expected in a young or vigorous person.
Almost always apoplexy comes to old, diseased, enfeebled persons. Kidney disease, high blood pressure and heart disease are among the causes.
The trouble may come on during sleep. Or, perhaps, without warning, the victim falls in his tracks. His face is purple in color, and his breathing noisy. The pulse will be found very slow and full. Looking at the eyes, the pupils will be seen to be large, and may be unequal in size.
In epilepsy the patient gives a yell or a groan, or a sort of growl, and falls unconscious. Within a few minutes he becomes stiff, his eyes roll up, and there may be frothing at the mouth.
This stage is followed by twitching of the muscles and jerking of the extremities of the body. Very shortly the victim drops off into a deep sleep, or he may at once recover consciousness.
There is little to do except to keep him from hurting himself. Particularly he is in danger of biting his tongue. To prevent this a piece of wood, a clothespin, a lead pencil or a rolled-up handkerchief should be placed between his teeth at the side of his mouth.
Fainting is so commonly met that every one knows the symptoms. Lack of blood in the head and brain is the immediate cause. This is due to failure of proper heart action. The face is pale, and the pulse feeble or almost lost.
Place the patient flat on her back, with her head lower than her feet. Loosen the clothing about the neck, and give her all the air you can.
In heart-stroke or heart exhaustion, the patient is cold and the pulse weak. Hot bath and stimulation are indicated.
In sunstroke the patient has a very high temperature, flushed face and noisy breathing. A cold tub bath, turning the hose on the victim or spraying with cold water will reduce the temperature.
Follow these directions till your doctor comes to take charge.

INHERITANCE TAX EXPERTS CLOSE MEET

T. E. Johns of Los Gatos Is Named New President of Organization; Many Subjects Covered in Resolutions

T. E. Johns of Los Gatos was elected president of the California Inheritance Tax Appraisers' Association at the closing session of that organization's sixth annual convention here today.

Other officers chosen were:
Frank Smith, Los Angeles, first
vice-president; Milton M. Deering,
Los Angeles, second vice-president;
F. C. McInnes, Fairfield, third vice-president; Joseph Haskins, San Jose, secretary, and J. E. Sullivan of Sacramento, treasurer. Haskins and Sullivan were re-elected. The other officers, according to the usual custom of the organization, went into their new positions by moving one notch ahead.

As president, Johns replaces Miss Elizabeth L. Kenney, the retiring executive, who held the distinction of being the only woman chief executive of any California organization composed entirely otherwise of men.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Immediately after his installation into office, President Johns announced the organization's executive committee as follows: Joseph D.
Malloy, Stockton; George W. Perley,
Modesto; U. D. Switzer, Visalia; J.
V. Smith, Santa Barbara; Ernest
Volmer, San Luis Obispo; Donald
Garcy, Santa Rosa; Peter J. Delany, Marysville; Fred B. Barnum, Yreka,
and Richard B. Fripp, Tehama county.

Before adjourning six resolutions were passed. Among them was a resolution expressing the association's appreciation of Oakland newspapers,
the Oakland Chamber of Commerce,
hotels and the city generally.

Another resolution congratulated Governor William D. Stephens on his appointment of Ray L. Riley as State Controller and pledged the organization's support to Riley in his administration of the affairs of the department.

In another document the body paid its respects to John W. Carrigan of Los Angeles and J. L. Atteridge of San Francisco, former attorneys for the department who resigned.

TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Thanks was extended to the bay counties appraisers for their efforts in handling the convention and tributes to the memory of T. J.
Weldon of Mendocino county and Oscar T. Pritch of Eldorado county, who died during the year, were expressed.

Another expressed regret at the resignation of former State Controller John S. Chambers.

The final address of the convention was made this morning by J. J.
Cusack, who spoke on "The New Act From the County Treasurer's Standpoint."

A launch ride to Paradise Cove
and a barbecue this afternoon ended
the three-day session, and late today and tonight the 200 delegates and their wives will return to their respective communities. Every county in the state was represented by a delegate to the conference.

F. Hopkinson Smith's Famed Story, "Felix O'Day," With H. B. Warner at Kinema Now

Polished actor does great work in screen story of gripping mystery romance, "Midst Raging Tigers," book four of "Miracles of the Jungle," a thriller.

"Felix O'Day" is a story of betrayed friendship. His fortune gone, his father driven to his death and his wife dishonored by his best friend, Felix O'Day, former sportsman and gentleman, dedicates his life to avenging the great wrong done him.
H. B. Warner plays the title role in the powerful screen adaptation opening at the Kinema today.

"Felix O'Day" was the last book written by that brilliant author-artist, before his untimely death, and is considered the crowning literary achievement of his remarkable career.
The screen version faithfully portrays all the rare charm of the novel.

with the suave, polished Warner masterfully interpreting the title role.
How his carefully laid plans for revenge are thwarted by fate forms the principal story interest.

The fourth book of the sensational "Miracles of the Jungle" comprises the most daring exploits with wild animals ever screened. No wonder
"Midst Raging Tigers" has proven
the most popular book so far.

U. C. Girl Students to Sell Tags to Help Liquidate Debt

MISS ELEANOR BURKS, University of California co-ed, leader in the Associated Women Students' plans for liquidating a $5000 debt incurred in installing a heating system in the swimming pool. The young women will sponsor a campus tag day next Wednesday.

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—Buy a tag!
Girls at the University of California will voice this plea as a unit next Wednesday. Funds are sought to liquidate a $5000 debt incurred by the Associated Women Students for the installation of a heating system

in the swimming pool adjoining Hearst hall.

Last year $1300 was raised while $1500 is the aim of the girls for next week's drive. Funds for the heating system were advanced by the university regents.

Miss Helen Taylor is in charge of the drive, while her assistants include
the Misses Dorothy Osborn, Eleanor Burks, Merry Hunter, Grace Allen,
Marjory Blair, Zoe King, Charlotte
Moore and others.

Alameda Over Top in Salvationists' Drive

ALAMEDA, Aug. 27.—Alameda
went over the top in the Salvation Army drive by more than $2500
above its allotted $1600 quota, according to announcement made by the drive headquarters yesterday afternoon. Fifteen communities were included in the Alameda section.
According to Judge Elmer Johnson,
chairman of the drive committee,
much more than this is expected,
as the drive still has one day more
to go and there are many checks
being sent in.

STORY TELLING RESUMED.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 27.—Story telling hour in the local library will be resumed today. During the summer vacation period the hour was discontinued. Mrs. Evelyn Webster will have charge of this department of the library's activities. Her topic today will be "The Land of Fire."
These hours have in the past proven to be unusually popular with the youngsters.

WOMAN DIES AFTER FUTILE ALASKA TRIP

Mrs. Alice Parrott Is Denied
Wish to See Oakland Again
Though She Braves Five Months' Ice Field Journey

Five months of a silent race against death, of pushing over snow trails behind snarling dogs, and of threading ice-caked rivers came to an end when the United States radio supply ship Saturn docked in Saluto today with the body of Mrs.
Alice Stanwood Parrott of Oakland on board. Another story of the Far North, of distant communities where lives are led far beyond reach of word from friends or help from physician or counselor had been written and the last wish of an aged woman
to die in the city she loved was thwarted.

Mrs. Parrott died within sight of the entrance of Puget Sound. The body is to be sent to this city for burial.

The Oakland woman, with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Werner, and 11-year-old granddaughter had been making their home in McDiarmid, Alaska, far up the glacial course of the Kuskokwim river. In the early spring Mrs.
Parrott realized that she did not long to live and determined to return to this city. Paralysis was coming on, the journey homeward lay over the snow and hills, and the wish of the dying woman meant hardship on the family.

Added to that, Werner was ill and unable to leave. So the invalid, Mrs.
Werner, and the 11-year-old girl went over the perilous trails with the dog team, and over to the boat.
There they found boats that took them, by stages, through eddies and ice to Dutch Harbor.

At Dutch Harbor the party embarked on the Saturn and the difficult part of the journey was over.
It was thought that Mrs. Parrott, who had borne with fortitude the discomforts of the sled and boat trips in the north, would weather
the journey to Oakland and she clung to life with a grim determination to see this city once again.

It was yesterday afternoon when the Puget Sound was first sighted and when she learned that the journey to the States was over that she gave up the ghost.

Mrs. Parrott lived for many years in Fruitvale, where a number of relatives survive. It was several years ago that she went to the north to live the last time, owing to the inaccessibility of the place, word
from her had been infrequent. Mrs.
Werner and daughter will return to Alaska and make the journey back to McGrath, where Werner is waiting.

Burglar Suspect To Fight Charge

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—John Clark, 33 years old, who was caught this week by the police after he has tried to enter the home of Mrs.
Monroe H. Starr, 3206 Claremont avenue, was held to answer to the superior court yesterday on a charge of attempted burglary.

Quick action on the part of Mrs.
Starr resulted in Clark's capture.
That Clark will fight the charge against him was evidenced yesterday when Leon Samuels, San Francisco attorney, appeared in court to defend him. Clark was taken to the county jail in default of $2000
bail.

Registration at U. C. Is Increased 18 Over Last Year

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—A report
denying a loss in registration
over last year was issued today by the University of California authorities. Correct figures issued today show a slight increase over last year.

The revised figures show the total registration this semester to be 9347
as against 9329 last year. The number of students registered in the 1925 freshman class is 400 less than last year's figure, however, the upper classes receiving an increased registration from the Los Angeles
branch of the university.

Husband Reaches Home in Time to Save Wife's Life

ONESOME, homesick for the voices of her parents and the touch of friendly hands, Mrs. H. S.
Hosworth, aged 36, who recently
came here from Philadelphia, Pa.,
last night locked herself in her bedroom and opened all the gas jets.
For days she had been pleading
with her husband to send her east for a visit, but Hosworth, who is a workman, could not raise money
enough for the fare.

Last night he came home, a little late for his supper, but with a smile
on his face and a little chuckle of joy in his heart, for he had met a man who owed him money and with that money he had purchased a round-trip ticket to Philadelphia.
The moment he opened the door, all thought of happiness vanished. The odor of gas told him what had happened. Dragging his wife from the gas-filled room he rushed her to the emergency hospital.

In fiction, perhaps, the story
would end here in tragedy, but real life is just a little kinder. Mrs.
Hosworth did not breathe the gas
long enough for them to have a fatal effect. Within a few hours she had been revived and was able to leave the hospital. In a few days she will be completely recovered. No doubt the prospect of her trip home will aid in her recovery.

SENIOR MEN DENY PENCHANT FOR "STOCKING ART"

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—The hot rays of California's sun and not the lack of view of passing girls, is the cause of the desertion of the new senior bench, according to the answer offered by the men refuting the college girls' charges of ogling.

The men of the upper class passed a resolution yesterday instructing a committee to request permission to plant trees near the new bench.

Indignant that the girls should term them "rude oglers," the senior men decided that the only way to make the bench a con-
fortable meeting place was to provide shade trees. Permission to this effect has been sought from the architect and college authorities.

Home of Newlyweds 'Decorated' By Friends

ALAMEDA, Aug. 27.—It pays
to advertise, but when Russell Franck
and his young bride return from their honeymoon this afternoon they may not be quite so pleased at the advertising which their friends have done for them.

The couple were married last week
and Franck had prepared a bungalow in Buena Vista avenue. The painters, paperhangers and others
were to have it all ready for them when they returned today. That part of the contract was fulfilled, but the friends of the couple have added
extra signs such as "Help a Young Couple Get Along in the World,"
"Newly Weds," "Lovey Dove Cottage," and "Married Life in the Only Thing" adorn the front of the building and are stuck up on the front lawn.

Just who did the job is a question.
But Franck belongs to nearly every club in Alameda, so that may be the answer.

Tribune Wins Thanks Of Oakland Y. M. I.

Editor TRIBUNE: The general committee having in charge the arrangements for the thirty-seventh grand council of the Young Men's Institute desires to hereby express the thanks of the entire organization to all those who assisted in making the parade and demonstration on last Sunday, and other special features of the week. The check, such wonderful successes. Also to the citizens of Oakland and Alameda who assisted in the entertainment of the delegates and visiting members.

Especially are the thanks of the committee due The Oakland TRIB-UNE and the other Eastbay and San Francisco papers for the generous space accorded the grand council happening.

Respectfully,

10-YEAR-OLD BOY STAR OF HIGH SCHOOL

Youngster Arrives 5 Minutes
After Midnight To Enroll;
Has No Fear of Latin or Figures; Youngest in Tech.

Latin, English, history and mathematics have no terrors for Matthew Marsh, ten-year-old freshman at Oakland Technical high school.
Matthew, who is small for his years,
has more of the appearance of a lad who would rather be hanging out on the tail of an ice cart than one who would hitch his San Francisco, one tail of a star. He is the youngest student ever enrolled at "Tech."

So anxious was young Matthew to become a student at the high school that he appeared at the door of the institution at 12:05 o'clock on opening day where, to his disgust, he found a small part held first position next to the knob. Within a short time and in spite of the efforts of the authorities to discourage the practice which has grown out of the tradition that new students must come in the very early morning to be sure of admission, there were a hundred and fifty in line.

The youngest high school student has enrolled in Latin, English, history and mathematics and declares that he anticipates no difficulty in holding his own with the older students.

"I've been to school just three years," he said, "one in the Spring valley school and last year in the San Francisco Normal where I finished the eighth grade last June. I liked it there because the pupils are allowed to go as fast as they can."

Matthew says that he likes to read
"most anything," and that he has finished more than 350 books in the last year. He is a healthy, normal appearing lad with none of the earmarks of the bookworm or the prodigy.
He has learned that it is possible to do his school work and to enjoy it. He is a boy who is ready to make his mark in the world.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, thirty-third and Telegraph, say that no efforts have been made to push the boy in his school work and that he has followed a course that has appeared natural to him.

Mrs. F. B. Silverwood Seeks Divorce in L. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Divorce proceedings are reported to have been instituted by Mrs. F. B.
Silverwood in Los Angeles after nine months of married life. Mrs. Silver-wood was formerly Mrs. "Happy" Winkle of San Francisco.

The Silverwoods were married in San Francisco on December 14 at the home of James H. Tamm, by Superior Judge Thomas F. Gaham.
After spending Christmas in Honolulu, they went to "Happyland" in Eagle Rock, near Los Angeles.

It is rumored that Mrs. Silverwood is seeking a divorce following her failure to get a $100,000 cash settlement. It is said that she will ask for $15,000 in cash and $500 a month
alimony.

BAD CHECK IS CASHED.

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—After buying $2 worth of groceries, a bad check artist secured not only the goods but $5 in change according to a report made to the police by George E. Archambeault, proprietor of a grocery store at Grove street and University avenue. The check was signed by John Jones, who gave his address as 1834 Alcatraz avenue, Berkeley.

Door and Darkness Contrive to Mar Beauty of Alfred

FELLOW members of the Door
Ajar Club, meet Brother Alfred Nelson of 260 Tenth street,
who has just been initiated. Brother Nelson today is wearing the badge of membership in full view and nobly withstanding the questioning of incredulous friends. By tonight he will be fully entitled to forty-second degree membership in Ananas chapter.

Nelson's experience, brothers, was much the same as yours. Last night he went into a dark room with his hands outstretched, feeling for familiar landmarks. Pushing one hand on each side of a door ajar he came to a sudden stop in the midst of conifers, pinwheels and a new solar system.

After a brief meditation on the wonders of nature Nelson picked himself up and rushed to the emergency hospital. He had suffered a bad cut on his nose and raised a lump as large as the bra-midic egg on his forehead.

TAXIS, FLOWERS BARRED AT U. C.

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—Informally will mark college social affairs this year. All groups have agreed to this program.

To make the action official,
members of the students' executive committee have declared that budgets must be submitted for these affairs, and the committee
reserves the right to cut any items presented.

Taxis, full dress suits and flowers, which were banned last year, will come under the permanent ban this semester. Only the annual class dances will be formal.
The new dances have been named
"scuds" by the second-year class and "jigs" by the juniors. The senior class holds "assembly"
dances every two weeks.

one of the features attending the opening of the new highway.
Twelve Scots teams will participate.
The Alameda men are hopeful of carrying off the trophy and in preparation have been drilling at Nepature every morning during the past week.

Rent Down a Rat Hole

I know what it is to pay rent. I've been cleared by a landlord in the first day of the month for years and believe me, paying rent is no joke. I'm a carpenter by trade and about a year ago overthrew the landlord's yoke and plunged in for myself. I bought a lot for $10 down and a month and built myself a house. I was the victor, well, but it was all my own. Now, anyone with $10 can do that and here is the way to work it. I have arranged with the owner of about 50 lots, right around my place, to allow $10 monthly to buy these lots for $10 down with the privilege of building temporary houses the same as the other ones.

Nation's Commerce Rapidly Returning To Normal Despite Foreign Trade Drop

Exclusive to THE TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—George F. Roberts, at one time director of the Mint and now vice-president of the National City Bank, said to the members of the International Chamber of Commerce at its recent meeting in London that if the United States possesses potential resources which can be made of them would furnish the world with a large part of the fresh capital which is now needed. Roberts did not mean that this country can provide money in large amounts with which to enable the world to recover its balance. The material, foodstuffs, fuel and raw production in many lines, including steel, industrial and railroad equipment, and the vast quantities of may be disentangled. Which if there are, they are not likely to be resolved in any favorable way. Involvement conditions would enable us to furnish the world with a more regular, dependable supply of food, on special occasions, Roberts said. "For my reason," he said, "the world's overcapacity of our industries, much of it is the result of the complexity in world trade because we are not taking the time to determine what we are willing to take in for what we are willing to give. We are anxious to sell."

AMAZING TRADE DROP.

A couple of days after Roberts thus spoke, the U. S. Commerce Department reported the results of the astounding decrease in U. S. exports to foreign trade especially in the final months of the fiscal year which ended on June 30. The trade fell on almost one-half. But as trade fell on almost one-half, it was not in quantity it fell in dollars and not in quantity it fell in dollars. It is reasonable to assume that this decrease in quantity was caused by the falling off in prices, not in quantity as fifty per cent. Apparently the quantity of our exports is not falling off. Therefore it is not unreasonable to assume that the world is not interested in the United States as a great source of raw material, foodstuffs and manufactured products.

What is now a major concern is that if Roberts and of many others

One of the changes in our relation with the world affairs to which Roberts' absorption of foreign securities was due to the year 1914, hardly any securities issued in other lands than our own had been marketed in the United States. It was only in 1914 that the United States went to London to borrow money to go to Holland and to a less extent to Germany for loans or for market facilities for our own securities. During the war only a few issues for allied nations and neutral governments were sold in the United States but immediately after the armistice was signed there came a flood of securities from other lands, almost all of which were accepted. Roberts' estimate in that since November, 1919, some $4,000,000,000 represented foreign sold in the United States.

OAKLAND WOMAN SOUGHT IN CANADA AS $10,000 HEIR

Mrs. John Burris, Believed To Be Somewhere in Dominion. May Inherit Stock.

Somewhere in Canada there is an Oakland woman who is being sought by Montana officials and development men within the next few weeks will, it is believed, determine definitely whether or not she is or is not heir to $10,000 worth of oil stocks in Montana and extensive property holdings in Canada. Mrs. John Burris is the woman's name, and the fact that she is now somewhere in Canada was learned today following publication of a story in The Tribune yesterday relating the history of the case.

Local friends of Mrs. Burris are making an effort to locate her to tell her of the death of Burris and of the fact that she is being sought by the authorities in an effort properly to administer the estate.

Officials seek her. Following Burris' sudden death in Lewistown, Montana, where he had invested heavily in oil stocks, letters were written to Oakland and other efforts made by the public administrator in Lewistown to locate Mrs. Burris. These efforts were without success.

Today it was learned that Mrs. Burris is living in seclusion in Canada. This angle of the situation, coming to light today for the first time, comes as the climax to a strange chain of circumstances dating back several years before the woman's marriage to John Burris.

A number of years ago Mrs. Burris became the wife of a man named Albert E. Wood. Later she and Wood separated, Wood going to San Diego. They did not procure a divorce, but years later they both remarried, each believing the other dead.

LEGAL TANGLE. It was not until last June that the matrimonial and legal tangle was discovered. Legal advice was sought and it developed that the only way to straighten out the situation was for the two second marriages to be annulled and for two new wedding ceremonies to be performed.

It was just two weeks after the discovery of the domestic tangle, that Burris dropped dead in Lewistown. Mrs. Burris' status in regard to the estate appears at present to hinge on two important questions: First: Did Burris make a will leaving his property to Mrs. Burris? Second: Was Mrs. Burris technically dead at the time of his death, and if not, is she, in view of the circumstances surrounding her life with the man she was married to, his legal widow?

The public administrator at Lewistown has been communicating with and efforts are now being made to locate Mrs. Burris in order to bring the matter to a legal conclusion.

Scoggins Goes To Carriers' Convention. Charles H. Scoggins, of this city, president of the State Association of Letter Carriers, left today for St. Louis, where he will attend the twenty-third annual convention of letter carriers. It is expected that 2000 delegates from all parts of the country will attend the convention.
